Summary: LATE FILED. On June 15, 2001, Ned Greenwood, Project Manager for Questar Southern Trails Pipeline Co. (Questar), met with Cmmr. Brown, Laura Krannawitter, advisor to Cmmr. Duque, and Steve Weissman, advisor to Cmmr. Wood, in three separate meetings in San Francisco. At the meeting with Cmmr. Brown also present were Belinda Gatti, advisor to Cmmr. Brown, and Mark Moench, General Counsel for Kern River Gas Transmission Company (Kern River); at the meeting with Laura Kranawitter also present was Lynne McGhee, advisor to Cmmr. Duque. Michael

Day of Goodin, MacBride, Squeri, Ritchie & Day, counsel for Kern River and Questar, participated in all three meetings. Written materials (attached to the notice) were used. Greenwood stated that Questar is ready for construction, save for the fact that customers cannot commit to firm contracts for service until the peaking rate case is resolved in a manner acceptable to the customers. Greenwood stated that without a revision of the proposed decision (PD) to adopt a more reasonable peaking rate, the Questar Southern Trails project would not be built. Moench and Day indicated that the Kern River pipeline project to build a lateral to Long Beach would not be able to proceed if the peaking rate in the PD were adopted. Day indicated that the PD should be replaced with an alternate which permitted interruptible peaking rates, assigned demand charges on a customer class basis instead of system-wide, and imposed demand charges on customers based on their usage on the system peak day. Day also stated that new customers should not be subject to the peaking rate.
